A Big Dress Goods Scoop! $1.25

Bannockburns,

We're always on the still hunt for chances to work in a surprise. Quantity never stands in our way if the price is there. This time fortune was unusually good to us in directing us within reach of this opportunity. We've made a deal whereby 100 pieces of the celebrated Bannockburn dress goods come to our counters at a bargain price. They're all-wool mixtures, and shown in a dozen nobby, tasty combinations and colorings.

Bannockburns are one of the most fashionable fabrics shown this season; has that rough homespun effect with woven knots scattered here and there. These goods come 54 inches wide, and the usual price up to now has been $1.25 a yard. This big purchase causes a large break in this price, when we offer them at

JOHNSON'S CASE HOPELESS.

Sheriff Williams, of Montgomery County, Md., appeared at Police Headquarters last night and held a conference with Inspector Boardman about the apprehension of the assailant of Albert Johnson, the plumber t Cabin John Bridge. Detectives Peck and Herndon were later assigned to assist the Marylard authorities, and late last night a clew was being followed which promised o produce good results. It is thought the ame of the probable murderer is known to the police, yet no arrests have been made Several parties who witnessed the assault upon Johnson were seen last night. The detectives took three men to the First precinct station during the evening, but those who were present when the crime was committed were unable to identify either of them as the assailant. They were then released, and their names were withheld. Deputy Sheriff Embrey is at work upon the case at Cabin John Bridge. He has learned little of value, At the Georgetown Hospital last night At the Georgetown Hospital had highly the condition of Johnson was reported critical. His death is hourly expected. No hope for his recovery is held out by the physicians, who claim that an operation upon the fractured skull would be useless.
